THE COMPOSITOR'S SONG.

BY HORACE DURANT.

With a brow of thought and an arm of might,
At his case the compositor stands;
From morning till night ye may watch the flight
Of his busy and restless hands;
From the eve till the dawn, while the world doth sleep,
He disposes of empires and kings,
While the victors slay, and the widowed weep,
And this is the song he sings:

Click, click, click—'t is a marriage we 're setting up,
A wedding of wealth and wine;
Where pleasure is quaffed from the sparkling cup,
And the halls in their splendors shine;
Click, click, click. Found frozen to death in the street—
Here's agate, and pica, and pearl;
How strange these two items together should meet—
These sisters—this bride and the outcast girl!

Click, click, click—that sentence just fills the stick—
Ha! ha! here's the telegraph news at hand;
Republics are making old monarchy sick,
And this palace is crumbling to sand.
Click, click, click To-morrow the million shall know,
That our flag in the east is unfurled—
That the stripes and the stars in the face of the foe,
Are marching to conquer the world.

Click, click, click; what a bundle of manuscript!
Here's poetry, nonsense and prose—
The wings of this genius must surely be clipped—
How that's done the compositor knows.
Click, click, click! We must play these rhymes a trick—
What letters these are no mortal can tell!
We should like to inquire if his brain be so thick
That he never could learn to spell.

Ha! ha! he expects us to guess at the sense,
While he punctuates all with a dash!
How he murders orthography, number and tense,
What ought we to do with such trash?
Talk of mysteries—Cheops, the Sphynx, or the Nile—
What were Hercules' labors to this?
We shall guess with a vengeance, and query the while,
If the writer his meaning can miss?

Click, click, click—we're the type of all patience, we think;
Not a scribbler but squanders our time
On decyphering hieroglyphics in ink,
And correcting bad grammar and rhyme;
And then, if the types but a little should stray—
A thing not surprising, indeed—
There's a regular row in the office next day,
When the writer discovers the deed.

Our scepter is Progress, our empire the Mind
What monarch so mighty as we?
At our bidding the fetters that tyrants would bind,
Are broken on kingdom and sea!
Click, click, click! is our watchword from morning to night,
Click, click, click! from the eve till the dawn;
Not a word do we say as our minions of might
Are marching to victory on.

Not a word do we say as we labor away—
Nor a sound in the voiceless room,
But the click of the types all the livelong day,
And their click in the midnight gloom,
Like the trample of legions to victory led;
Yet mightier far than the sword or spear,
The avenger of wrong, and the tyrant's dread,
Is the click of types that ye hear.

THE SIGNAL SERVICE BUREAU.

The report of the chief signal officer of the army for the year 1872 contains an immense amount of valuable and practical information regarding meteorological science. Full details are added relative to the progress of the labors of the government in the establishment of signal stations, the education of observers, and the publication of reports showing that this important service has materially advanced in usefulness and efficiency during the past year. Ten additional stations have been established within the U. States, and the total number of points at which observations are now made is seventy-two. From the first station in the Aleutian islands to those upon the British coasts. the reports from both of which are noticed, there intervenes nearly half a circumference of the earth's surface. From the stations on the Aleutian islands comes the first intimation of storms or meteoric disturbances having their origin on the coast of Asia. The Pacific stations report the first appearance on that coast of the disturbances thus traced. The connection is continued by the Rocky Mountain stations, and thus the news travels in advance of the storm.

The organization of a mobilized corps of observers has been commenced. This will be composed of picked men, and its object is to place at the disposal of the government the power of suddenly increasing the number of stations from which reports are to be had in any section of the country which may, at any season of the year, be especially threatened by the storms which seem, at different seasons, to pass more frequently over particular portions of territory of the U. States. It will be possible to occupy, in this way, the stations as stations of report, with very great rapidity.

In regard to the accuracy of warnings and predictions, General Meyer states that the percentage of cautionary signals verified, by the occurrence of the winds described within a few hours after the display of the signal, is estimated to have been about 70 per cent. The signal, it is explained, is wholly cautionary, for warning of probable danger.

The experiment of a balloon ascension has been tried with fair results One hundred and fifty-six readings were made, establishing the fact that very delicate instruments may thus be employed.

Arrangements for an interchange of reports have been made with Canada, and a similar course is contemplated with the West India islands. It is believed that many of the cyclone storms the indications of which are first felt by the stations of the U. States, as then showing the disturbances upon the Gulf of Mexico or near the Atlantic coast, pass over points on these islands from which their presence can be announced. Since January 1, 1872, statements of changes in the depths of water in the principal western rivers, being in direct relation to the meteoric changes, have been reported daily. It is hoped that a portion of the great problem of the protection of the river commerce from ice and freshets, and of the lower river levees from breakage and overflow, will be solved through the timely warnings that will be given

The practical results of this branch of the service, with all its errors and imperfections, can be summed, it is believed, in the statement that, since the inauguration of its duties, no great and continuous storm has traversed the territory of the U. States, or raged along the length of its lakes, its gulf, or sea coast shores. without fair and general premonition, given at the great majority of the points endangered.—Scientific American.

A QUESTION IN THEOLOGICAL ETHICS.

A profound question in theology has been raised in the city of Brooklyn. It must not pass unnoticed, even by the secular press. One Charles Pfeifer was shot down in Chatham Square by a person named Nixon. Pfeifer, it appears by clerical testimonials, was as near a state of grace, and as ready to occupy a house not made with hands, as could have been selected. The murder has had some notoriety in the newspapers as one that was unprovoked and wanton. It was made a subject of discussion at a subsequent meeting of Methodist Episcopal preachers. One of the clergymen, the preacher in charge of the church in which the lamented Pfeifer was a communicant, and, therefore, entitled to speak authoritatively, held that his murder was ordered providentially, as a means by which public sentiment might thus be aroused to the importance of the enforcement of the laws against crime of a capital character. In plain words, Providence had ordered that Pfeifer should die that others, not so well prepared for a change of worlds, may live.

The doctrine is not a new one. Providence expressly consented that Satan might tempt Job to give mankind a lesson in Christian fortitude. So Satan raised a tempest, which overwhelmed Job's family. Nearly all his relations perished, and Job himself sat down in ashes and lamented has losses in sack-cloth. Boils broke out upon his body till it resembled a bad case of confluent small-pox. and Job was sorely tempted to curse God and die. But being a patient man and a truly good, he did not do it, and so remains a monument to all generations of the triumphs of Christian resignation. Job was subjected to unusual suffering, that others might profit by his example. It was one of the mysterious ways of Providence in its dealings with men.

Now, we have no disposition to dispute this view of the matter. We prefer indeed, to follow our spiritual guides in an affair that passeth understanding, and which requires a rather unusual exercise of faith. It was necessary that Pfeifer should suffer that the public conscience might be aroused to the importance of enforcing the laws, and providence which decided upon the victim, also selected upon the victimizer. The preacher of Brooklyn may be right. By virtue of apostolic grace transmitted by the laying on of hands, we are inclined to believe that he is authorized to interpret the ways of God to man.

But we must confess there is a question that troubles us. It is this: If Providence ordered the murder of Pfeifer that good might come of it—"from the foundations of the world" decreed that Nixon should be the instrument of its designs, ought he to suffer the penalty of human law for simply executing an inexorable decree? Why should he be hung for doing that which it was foreordained he should do, and which had to come to pass?

We do not pretend to unberstand it. It passes our feeble secular comprehension. But we have no doubt the clerical brethren of either Brooklyn or Cincinnati can make it plain to our comprehension. More difficult problems have been solved. and we fondly cherish the expectation that some soundly orthodox brother will come forward and demonstrate why, for simply performing what might be called a purely clerical function, Nixon should swing from the gallows.

It may have been that Nixon had individually as great repugnance to the shedding of blood as Abraham to the sacrifice of his son, and had a sheep been interposed at the proper moment would have preferred slaughtering it to killing Pfeifer, who was prepared to enter into the rest of the saints. But no such alternative was offered, and he accordingly executed the providential design in the manner conceived and decreed from all eternity, as we are taught to believe.

But supposing the murder of Pfeifer should fail to arouse that lively sense of the importance of enforcing the laws which it is assumed will follow the murder. Should it come out after all that the laws are no more rigidly enforced than heretofore; that murderers between the committing magistrate and the court of appeals, escape with the ordinary facility, must we assume that Providence has failed in its purpose, and has appointed means inadequate to the end? But we will not press the question. least we be taken to task as doubting Thomases. We shall simply await the fulfillment of the law, and leave to our clerical friends the solution of a question raised by one of their own brethren.—Cincinnati Com.

THE CHARACTER AND HABIT OF THE CHINESE IN AMERICA.

John Chinaman is a sort of museum in his character and habits. We must be pardoned for giving details of these, mingled promiscuously, rather after the museum style. His new year comes in February. For the Chinaman of limited means it lasts a week; for the wealthy it may endure. three. His consumption of fire crackers during that period is immense. He burns strings a yard in length, suspended from poles over his balconies. The uproar and spluttering consequent on this festivity in the Chinese quarter at San Francisco is tremendous. The city authorities limit this Celestial Pandemonium to a week.

He does not forsake the amusement of kite-flying even when arrived at maturity. His artistic imitations of birds and dragons float over our house-tops. To these are often affixed contrivances for producing hollow, mournful, buzzing sounds, mystifying whole neighborhoods. His game of shuttle-cock is to keep a cork, one end being stuck with feathers, flying in the air as long as possible, the impelling member being the foot, the players standing in a circle and numbering from four to twenty. Some show great dexterity in kicking with the heel. His vocal music in our ears seems a monotonous caterwaul. His violin has but one string; his execution is merely a modified species of saw-filing.

He loves to gamble, especially in lotteries. He is a diligent student of his own comfort. Traveling on foot during a hot day, he protects himself with an umberela and refreshes himself with a fan. In place of prosaic signs on his store fronts, he often inscribes quotations from his favorite author

He is a lover of flowers. His balconies and window-sills are often thickly packed with shrubs and creepers in pots. He is not a speedy and taciturn eater. His tea table talks are full of noisy jollity, and are often prolonged far into the night.

He is a lover of the drama. A single play sometimes requires months for representation, being like a serial story. "continued," night after night. He never dances. There is no melody in the Mongolian foot. Dancing he regards as a species of Caucasian insanity.

To make an oath binding he must swear by the head of a cock cut off before him in open court Chinese testimony is not admissible in American courts. It is a legal California axiom that a Chinaman cannot speak the truth. But cases have occurred wherein, he being an eye-witness, the desire to hear what he might tell as to what he had seen has proved stronger than the prejudice against him; and the more effectually to clinch the chances of his telling the truth, the above, his national form of oath has been resorted to. He has among us some secret government of his own. Before his secret tribunals more than one Mongolian has been hurried in Star-Chamber fashion. and never seen afterward. The nature of the offences thus visited by secret and bloody punishment is scarcely known to Americans. He has two chief deties—a god and a devil. His god, he says, being good and well disposed, it is not necessary to propitiate him. His devil is ugly, and must be won over by offering and petition Once a year, whenever collected in any number, he builds a flimsy sort of temple, decorates it with ornaments of tinsel, lays piles of fruit, meats, and sugared delicacies on an altar, keeps up night and day a steady crash of gongs, and installs therein some great, uncouth wooden idols. When this period of worship is over the "joss-house" disappears, and the idols are unceremoniously stowed away among other useless lumber.

He shaves with an instrument resembling a butcher's cleaver in miniature. Nature generally denies him beard, so he shaves what the sailor would term the fore and after part of his head. He reaps his hirsute crop dry, using no lather. His cue is pieced out by silken braid. so interwoven as gradually to taper into a slim tassel, something like a Missouri mule driver's "black-snake" whip-lash. To lose this cue is to lose caste and standing among his fellows. No misfortune for him can be greater.

Coarse cowhide boots are the only article of American wear that he favors. He inclines to buy the largest sizes, thinking he thereby gets the most for his money. and when his No. 7 feet wabble and chafe in No. 12 boots he complains that they "fit too much."

He cultivates the vegetables of his native land in California. They are curiosities like himself. One resembles our string bean, but is circular in shape and from two to three feet in length. It is not in the least stringy, breaks off short and crisp, boils tender very quickly, and affords excellent eating. He is a very careful cultivator. and will spend hours picking off dead leaves and insects from the young plants. When he finds a dead cat, rat. or dog, he throws it into a small vat of water, allows it to decompose, and sprinkles the liquid fertilizer thus obtained over his plantation. Watermelon and pumpkin seeds are for him dessert delicacies. He consumes his garden products about half cooked in an American culinary point of view, merely wilting them by an immersion in boiling water.

There are about fifteen English words to be learned by a Chinaman on arriving in California, and no more. With these he expresses all his wants, and with this limited stock you must learn to convey all that is needful to him. The practice thus forced upon one in employing a Chinese servant is useful in preventing a circumlocutory habit of speech. Many of our letters the Mongolian mouth has no capacity for sounding. R he invariably sounds like l, so that the word "rice" he pronounces "lice"—a bit of information which may prevent an unpleasant apprehension when you come to employ a Chinese cook. He rejects the English personal pronoun I, and uses the possessive "my" in its place; thus, "My go home." in place of "I go home."

When he buries a countryman he throws from the hearse into the air handfuls of brown tissue paper slips, punctured with Chinese characters Sometimes, at his burial processions, he gives a small piece of money to every person met on the road. Over the grave he beats gongs and sets off packs of fire crackers. On it he leaves cooked meats, drinks, delicacies, and lighted wax tapers. Eventually the bones are disinterred and shipped to his native land. In the remotest mining districts of California are found Chinese graves thus opened and emptied of their inmates.

I have in one instance seen him, so far as he was permitted, render some of these funeral honors to an American. The deceased had gained this honor by treating the Chinese as though they were partners in our common humanity. "Missa Tom," as he was termed by them, they knew they could trust. He acquired among them a reputation as the one righteous American in their California Gomorrah. Chinamen would come to him from distant localities, that he might overlook their bills of sale and other documents used in business intercourse with the white man. Their need of such an honest adviser was great. The descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers often took advantage of their ignorance of the English language, written or spoken. Missa Tom suddenly died. I had occasion to visit his farm a few days after his death, and on the first night of my stay there saw the array of fruits. wine, and burning tapers on a table in front of the house, which his China friends told me was intended as an offering to "Missa Tom's" spirit.—From Glimpses of John Chinaman, by Prentice Mulford, in the February number of Lippincott's Magazine.

A USEFUL DISCOVERY.

The material produced by Col. Szerchny, and called by the Arabic sounding name of Zopissa, is a species of paint, varnish or glue. or rather, a substance combining the special qualities of each of these bodies with others peculiar to itself. It can be employed with the facility of paint. It is as preservative of surface and of lustre as the most successful varnish. It holds with a tenacity equal to that of the best marine glue, not only wood, paper, and cloth, but stone, glass and iron. It is impervious to water. It is incombustible by fire. It is almost an absolute non-conductor of heat. While qualities such as these are enough to give a very high commercial value to a chemical product, the cost of production is said to be very low. We have not space to enter into the interesting details of the manner in which Col. Szerchny was led to the discovery of this important material. He believes that it is the very secret that has imparted so imperishable a durability to the sarcophagi, the mummy cloths, and the mural paintings of the ancient Egyptians. There is, it is certain, a wonderfully Egyptian look about the panels, and slabs, and piles, beams and sleepers, prepared by this process. Some of them have been for years under water. Some of them have been exposed to jets of flaming gas. They appear to have been little affected by either. Human life is not of adequate length to apply the tests to which the inventor proposed to submit the timbers he has prepared. But when we say that not only a very large proportion of the newspaper press of the country has called attention to the results of the experiment, but that Dr. Faraday and Sir Roderick Murchison, in an official report which the house of commons ordered to be printed on the 16th of May, 1860, bear witness to the efficiency of Zopissa for arresting the decay of stone, it will be seen that we have reason for expressing surprise that the material has not been brought into universal use. Its value for maritime and military purposes appears to be extraordinary. Opticians and operagoers know the worth of the new metal, aluminum, owing to its two qualities of non-oxidization and great lightness. A double operaglass might be made of Zopissa paper, so light that the glass would be the heaviest part, so strong as to be proof against any but intentional injury, and at a cost which would leave aluminum nowhere. Again, for pipes, cisterns, reservoirs of water, not only can these be made of this material at a third of the price of iron, but the chemical action that is always going on in metal containing water would be obviated, and the great trouble of the winter frosts in London and other large towns, the fracture of the water-pipes, would be rendered a thing of the past; owing not so much to the great strength as to the non-conducting quality of pipes made of this cheap material. Space would fail to tell of the uses to which it may be satisfactorily applied. For vessels it may be made to combine the lightness of timber with the resistance of iron armor. For shoes it is at once light, durable. For cartridge cases it presents to the manufacturer of small arms, and indeed to the artillerist in any branch, exactly that of which he is in search.—London Art Journal.

The Nashua Telegraph states that the first attempt to open the public schools in Boston to girls was made in 1790, by Caleb Bingham, the author of the Columbian Orator, who secured the admission of girls in the summer months, when many of the boys were out of school. In 1825 the schools were opened to girls, but they came in such numbers that, in 1827, mayor Josiah Quincy had them closed on the ground that the experiment was a failure! But in 1830 the schools were again opened to girls, who, for the first time, were provided school advantages equal to those furnished to boys. The city of Portsmouth, N. H., made no provision for the education of girls until 1815, and no institution for the special benefit of women existed in the state till 1823, when Adams' Academy was established in Derry, L. P. Grand and Miss Mary Lyon, who afterward won an imperishable fame at Mt. Holyoke, as teachers. There is still a considerable number of cities and towns in the country which do not furnish girls with high-school privileges equal to those provided for boys. As late as 1852, the course in mathematics for girls in the Cleveland high school ended with quadratic equations in algebra! It was not till 1858 that the laws of any New-England state recognized the fitness of woman to be a teacher in the public schools, and it took many years to overcome the prejudice against their employment—in fact, this prejudice is still strong in many communities. We wish that some competent person would collect the facts relating to the admission of girls to the schools in this country. These facts would make an interesting and suggestive chapter in the history of education in this country.—Ohio Educational Monthly.

AN ERECT POSTURE.

A writer on health very justly condemns the habit of lounging, in which large numbers of persons indulge, as injurious to the health. He says: "An erect bodily posture is of vastly more importance to health than is generally imagined. Crooked bodily positions, maintained for any length of time, are always injurious, whether in the sitting, standing or lying posture, whether sleeping or waking.

To sit with the body leaning forward on the stomach, or to one side, with the heels elevated to a level with the head is not only in bad taste, but exceedingly detrimental to the health.

Many children become slightly hump-backed, or severely round-shouldered, by sleeping with the head raised on a high pillow; when any person finds it easier to sit, stand, or sleep in a crooked position than in a straight one, such a person may be sure his muscular system is badly deranged, and the more careful he is to preserve a straight or upright posture, and get back to nature again, the better."

SIBERIA

Siberia contains an area of 4,700,000 square miles, and has a population of 3,000,000. This vast country, writes a correspondent of the Alaska Herald, is without doubt, one of the richest mineral regions in the world. The gold yield for a single year from the mines of Tomsk is stated at eleven millions. Immense quantities of iron and copper abound, and there are valuable coal, tin, lead, and zinc mines. Beautiful specimens of jasper and porphyry are found in several districts. The fur products of Siberia are not surpassed by any country in the world. In 1871 there were exported to San Francisco, among other valuable furs, nearly 4,000 sable skins and over 43,000 dried and salted fur seal skins were also sent here. There is almost an endless variety of fur bearing animals—bear, deer, beaver, marten, mink, gray, red, cross, white, blue fox, &c. Most of the products of a temperate clime are attempted, and in the more southern districts corn has been harvested. The inhabitants, as is well known, are principally Russian, and in great part consists of persons who have been banished from Russia proper for political or other offenses.

Vast numbers of animals are already arriving for Mr. Barnum from every direction and every clime. Among these is a fairy elephant, so dainty and small that it can be carried about upon the shoulder of any man who has an inclination to try. It comes from the East Indies and weighs about 140 lbs.

The Akron City Times of the 28th ult, furnishes the following table, showing the amount of coal in bushels carried into Cleveland during the years from 1861 to 1871 inclusive:

1861, November 30,	bushels coal,	1,685,376
1862	" 30 "	2,882,448
1863	" 30 "	3,202,267
1864	" 30 "	4,236,148
1865	" 30 "	3,826,239
1866	" 30 "	4,227,608
1867	" 30 "	4,694,337
1868	" 30 "	4,886,744
1869	" 30 "	5,752,263
1870	" 30 "	2 929,167
1871	" 30 "	6,618,786

Accompanying the above the editor supplies some valuable statistics as to the aggregate expenditures for the same period, for construction, repairs, &c... from which we gather the fact, that, $3,200,000 were thus expended by the lessees. After June 1, 1861, no repairs were made by the state.

Below we give the arrivals and clearances at Massillon for 1872, of a few of the principal articles:

When we recall the fact that, for want of a better water supply navigation has been interrupted for a great part of the business season, we can form some estimate from the above of the influence of the canal upon our home industry. Should the present obstacles to its usefulness be removed, and two hundred days of uninterrupted navigation be secured, the impulse to business it would afford is beyond calculation

Saturday's Tribune brought us accounts of no less than three murders in New York, which occurred in that city in the twelve hours preceding its publication. That, with the terrible boiler explosion at Pittsburg, on the third inst., and half a dozen more accidents of late, seem to make life very uncertain. This year, although but little more than forty days have fled many hundreds of lives have been lost.

For years the murder of the Joyce children, near Boston, has been a mystery. A few days ago a fellow named Evans confesses that he is the guilty murderer, and that these two victims were but a portion of the number he disposed of in a similar manner. Of course he is in prison, and in a fair way to be hung. He can't expect mercy.

In our exchanges we notice that preparations are being made in many places for the coming constitutional convention, by calling meetings for nominating candidates, suggesting names in this connection, and such other matters as pertain to this important question. This county is entitled to two delegates, and we have noticed the names of two of our citizens in several papers as candidates, General Kent Jarvis, and R. H. Folger, Esq. Mr. Martin, of Canton, and perhaps others have been named. The matter of remodeling our constitution is a question of such magnitude as to enlist the best talents at the command of the people for this business.

Hope to receive further contributions from our Navarre correspondent, who furnishes our readers with numerous items of interest. His article is very welcome, and will, no doubt, meet with approval in that vicinity. We also suggest that correspondents in other towns favor us with matters of local interest in their respective vicinities.

Col. James Collier, long a prominent citizen of Steubenville as a member of the legal profession, died a few days ago at the age of 84 years. Mr. C. took an active part in the war of 1812, at that time quite a young man, but proved himself a patriotic and successful soldier. In other days politically he was a whig, and in the exciting campaign of 1840 took an active part in favor of Gen. Harrison. One time when he was making a speech at New Lisbon, some one hit him with a small pebble or nut, but that did not embarrass him, as the only answer he made to it was, It was not the first time he was fired at by the enemies of his country. He was not troubled any more with such annoyances.

In consequence of a recent change in the officials of the I. O. G. T. of this state, Mrs. M. Mc. Brown, of Alliance, editor of the Monitor, is now principal officer of that order, and holds the position till next annual election in October. As she has had considerable experience in carrying on the temperance reform, especially in that order, Mrs. B. is no doubt qualified to fill this responsible position with credit to herself and the great cause she has so long aided in promoting.

Not a few good people are alarmed at the idea of making temperance a political question. Oh, no, that will never do, they tell us. We are not ready for it yet. It will tend to destroy our party, and if that happens the country is ruined. All this and much more is urged in the shape of objections by thousands of sincere, good people. If they are distressed at temperance movements in politics how will they like the following call of liquor dealers to the manufacturers and dealers in intoxicating stuffs? In a list of whereases to their call for a state convention they say:

"A certain class of men, calling themselves temperance men, misguided by religious fanaticism, but powerful by religio-political combinations, are using immoral means for moral ends—namely, for the suppression of intemperance—in trying to coerce their fellow citizens and themselves into virtue by unjust and tyrannical prohibitory or vexatious laws, &c.'

And then urge their party to come together at Columbus and devise plans to protect their business. Just the way slaveholders used to do, and we all know how they came out. These men will fare no better. Their time is coming.

George Ream, a man employed in the paper mill at Canton, accidentally slipped and fell into a large vessel of boiling lime water, on last Saturday, and although taken out in less than half a minute, was so scalded that he died on that evening, after suffering terrible pain.

On last Saturday the country was taken by surprise to learn of the sudden death of ex governor John W. Geary, of Pennsylvania. He seemed in his usual health that morning, and while sitting at the breakfast table with his family was fatally stricken down and died in a few minutes. He was distinguished both as a statesman and military man. Aged 51 years.

Brother Allen's lamentations seem to be quite popular with some of our editorial neighbors. They print the article with great unction. Bro. A. is a bully mourner—he beats the great whang-doodle, which bewailed the loss of his first born.

Senator Wales and representative Bowman were home on a brief visit, and we believe returned to Columbus on Monday evening. Mr. Bowman favored us with a neatly bound copy of the annual report of the secretary of the state for 1872. It is full of statistical information in regard to our state, and is the result of a vast amount of labor. Several maps are in this volume, one of which divides the state into three parts—northern, middle and southern. Stark is in the northern division, consisting of 33 counties, central 33 counties, southern 22 counties. Average of wheat per acere in 1871, northern district 16.12 bushels, middle district 13.45 bushels, southern district 8.02 bushels. Total average 12.83 bushels.

Hon. E. E. White, editor of the Ohio Ed. Monthly, Columbus, announces in the February No. that this very efficient pioneer to teachers was never in a more prosperous basis than it now is. Every friend of intellectual progress will rejoice to read such welcome news. A brief examination of the contents of this issue convinces us that the monthly is becoming more and more an indispensable necessity, not only for instructors but also for all school officers, and every one who is connected with the great work of education. On some points Mr. White seems conservative, which is his privilige, but his sincerity assures that he is in earnest, and works for the best interests of all.

NAVARRE, O., Feb. 10th, 1873.

ED. INDEPENDENT:—Though our village is somewhat isolated from the leading thoroughfares of our country, nevertheless we still live, and a word, perhaps, from us would not be imposing on your appreciated columns, or readers; as your journal is a regular visitor to many households of this borough.

Business is not so brisk since the thaw, as previous;—a calm must always follow a storm. Whilst the snow lasted, we were almost influenced to believe we lived in a second Massillon, judging from the number of teams and business visitors.

The firm of Kelly & Bowers have changed hands recently, selling out to the ex-superintendent of the Massillon Charity school We welcome the gentleman in coming among us; hoping his sojourn will be profitable and pleasant. Kelly & Rowers have embarked in the grocery business. Success to them.

Our enterprising townsmen, Mr. Winter, is, as heretofore, busily engaged in manufacturing flour for home and eastern consumption; shipping from five to seven hundred barrels per week.

In the way of amusement, some time since the amateurs of our place entertained the lovers of dramatic literature of this vicinity by acting the comic drama—Charcoal Burner. The performers acquitted themselves so well that the audience assured them that another specimen of their tact in that line would meet their hearty approval.

Friday and Saturday evenings our Literary Hall was again thronged to its utmost capacity with eager listeners to witness the recital of another drama—moral and exciting in its nature—Dream at Sea. The performers, as a general thing were very well adapted to the characters assigned. The parts were cast as follows:

Trevanion,	H Monroe,
Richard Pendrell	C C Corl,
Launce Lynwood,	R V Jones,
Black Ralph,	H S Raff,
Tom Tinkle,	E Wiseman,
Alley Croaker,	J S Winter,
Williams,	H S Linn,
Annie Trevanion,	Miss Allie Baugh,
Biddy Nritts,	Mrs A P Kearney,
Margaret,	Miss Mollie Geltz.

Space will not permit us to comment on each performer, though gladly would we do so. Mr. H. S. Raff in his well known natural way again performed his part to the gratification of all. Mr. E. Wiseman, who has been traveling with a show as an actor, was not in the least daunted in making his appearance. He really appeared to be in his element on the stage. His grins, eyes, contractions of muscles of face, and gestures of both hands and feet, were expressive and forced laughter from the soberest of the sober. Mr. R. V. Jones, though small in stature, proved himself able to cope with others of higher standing, by proving himself innocent from the hands of his accusers. His manner of performing is very earnest and agreeable. Miss Allie Baugh's actions were calm, graceful and unassuming. Her part was appreciated by all. Miss Mollie Geltz, in her mild, modest and becoming way, elicited eulogy from her many friends. The character of Biddy Nritts was one that every lady would not be adapted to act. The modesty of ladies having the appellation Mrs. generally would not permit them to act that part, for fear of their better halves appealing to authority for a bill of disunion; however Mrs. A. P. Kearney, regardless of such fears, acquitted herself to the requirements of the character. She acted with animation and emotion and elicited hearty applause. The gentlemen not mensioned acted nobly their parts and were worthy of credit. EGO.

Our former townsman, D. W. Huntsman, now of Allegheny City, Pa., made this place a brief visit last week on business. He reports business brisk, and where he is the furniture trade is quite extensive.

Preparations are being made by a number of public spirited men in Washington to make the inaugural ceremonies on the 4th of March the most brilliant and imposing celebration ever held at the capital. Military and civic bodies will take part in the parade, and in the evening a grand ball will be given in a building erected for the purpose. The avenue, from the capitol to the White House will be illuminated at night, and other attractive features are announced. It is quite probable that a grand carnival will be held on the day following the inauguration. If this should be decided upon, and half rates are secured over the leading railroads, it will test the entertaining capacity of Washington to the utmost to properly care for the tens of thousands of visitors who will take this occasion to visit the most attractive city on the continent.—Republican, D. C.

It is said that the Berlin post-office is about to introduce an improvement upon the original postal card system. A card is to be provided, on which a message may be sent and a reply returned at once. The original sender, by paying the trifling postage each way, may thus secure an answer at once, the person addressed having only to write a line or so on the card, when he receives it, and return it to the postman. This is a great convenience worth considering in the issue of postal cards in this country.

Court began last Monday. Thus far we have had no news from Canton in regard to its doings. It takes several days for that body to get under headway. The grand jury has quite a number of jobs—so has the other jury.

The Leetonia troubles are far from being settled. Much uncertainty exists as to what will be done. The parties embarrassed are deeper in difficulty than at first supposed, but the way to daylight will open up before long. Meantime the Reporter seems flourishing.

MEETING OF THE N. E. O. M. ASSOCIATION.

The Union Medical Association of northeastern Ohio, met in Akron on the 4th inst. in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Academy of Music building.

After the transaction of the usual preliminary business the association proceeded to the election of officers, with the following result:

President, THO. MCBRIGHT, Akron
1st V. Pres., E.W. HOWARD, "
2d V. P., A. W. RIDENOUR, Massillon.
Treasurer, W. J. Underwood, Akron.
Recording sec., A. E. Foltz, Akron.
Corr. Sec., J. K. Holloway, "

D. Scott, of Cleveland, then reported a case of glaucoma, or inflammation of the eyeball, treated by iridectomy, or cutting out a small part of the iris (curtain of the eye.) This case fully illustrates the wonderful improvements made in the treatment of eye diseases in the last few years.

The association then adjourned till 1 30 P. M.

On reassembling the retiring president, Dr. Sherman, called the president elect, Dr. McEbright, to the chair, who made a few remarks, thanking the society for the honor.

Dr. Sherman then read his valedictory address, sketching briefly the objects and work of the society The address was referred to the committee on publication.

Dr. W. C. Jacobs, of Akron, then read an essay on the reflex action of the nervous system, and was requested to continue the essay at some future time.

Dr. A. W. Ridenour, of Massillon, reported several cases of epidemic influenza, complicated with pneumonia.

Dr. Campbell, of Western Star, reported a case of injury to the bladder, from external violence received on the abdomen.

Dr. E. A. Foltz, of Akron, reported two cases of cerebro-spinal fever.

The following gentlemen were then assigned to duty at the next meeting: Lecturer—Dr. Sowers. Canal Fulton. Alternates—Dr. Scott, Cleveland; Dr. E. Hitchcock, Cleveland (continued.) Essayist—Dr. Lyman, Wadsworth. Alternates—Dr. W. P. Morrison, Akron; Dr. W. C. Jacobs, Akron, (continued.)

The society then adjourned to meet at Akron, May 6, 1873.

There is a prospect now that the entire coal trade of the world is to be revolutionized by the United States assuming the supremacy so long enjoyed by Great Britain. Already a large amount of coal is being exported from here to England, and a line of large steam colliers is projected to carry the product of American mines to all parts of the world.

Josh Billings says: 'I will state for the information of those who havn't had a chance to lay in insect wisdum as freely as I hav, that one single hornet, who feels well will break up a whole camp-meeting.'

So frequent have been the escapes of notorious violators of the laws that the conviction of Stokes has taken the public somewhat by surprise. That there was no reasonable doubt about the murderous intent of Stokes, was generally conceded, and yet his acquittal was nevertheless anticipated. The fact is, our courts, the administration of public justice, and the machinery of the law itself have been more on trial of late than the prisoners at the bar. The public has began to ask the question, "what is the use of courts of justice, and the expensive machinery of the law, if they only aid in the escape of notorious malefactors?" It was high time that the supremacy of the law shall be asserted, so that the mass of men should not regard it as a piece of jugglery and treat it with contempt. It is to be hoped that the examples recently set in the Stokes case, and in the several convictions at the Capital will be followed throughout the land, because, otherwise, acts of violence will so increase that life in the United States will be less secure than among the most barbarous peoples.—Republican, D. C.

It seems the associated mine owners of the Tuscarawas Valley have adopted a resolution looking to negotiations with the working miners' association for the establishment of a scale of prices during the year that will render strikes unnecessary. That is sensible.

A little boy who sang, "I want to be an angel," in Sunday school with so much energy that he almost choked himself, confessed to an enterprising reporter that he really wanted to be a captain on a canal boat.

MARRIED.—On the 4th inst., by Rev. H. Northeuer, John G Heltrich and Mrs. Sarah Jane Young—both of Massillon.

DIED—On the 4th inst., George M. Roggenbrod, 82 years of age.

On the 7th inst George Wiltmann, 70 years of age

LOCAL MATTERS.

The Ladies' Social of the Presbyterian ch will be held at the residence of Mrs. Mc. Clurg, on Mill street, Thursday evening next. All are invited.

The Mite Society of the M. E Church will give an Oyster Supper at the parsonage next Tuesday evening, the 18th inst. The ladies propose giving an entertainment of more than ordinary interest, and regret to state that it will be the last opportunity of meeting with our pastor and family; therefore, would extend a cordial invitation not only to our own congregation, but also to all of Mr and Mrs Hingeley's friends, to participate in the pleasures of the evening with us. By order of the president,

Miss A. E. BUCKIUS.

This announcement is worthy of a generous response, and under the circumstances we hope it will meet with a cordial and practical approval among all classes Our Methodist friends are often liberal in patronizing these socials of other denominations, and we doubt not this generosity will be cordially reciprocated.

We regret to be informed that on Saturday evening last John Allman, living on North street, accidentally fell and broke one of his legs. Under the care of Dr. Reed he is getting along quite as well as could be expected, though suffering considerably.

Last Saturday evening the omnibus of the American was sightly demoralized by the capering of the team, which accounts for its non appearance on the streets for a day or two. Nobody hurt—soon be all right.

The usual programme of school examinations, which have been taking place annually about the first or second week of March, for many years, in this place, we hear will not be observed the coming spring. Instead of that but one day will be thus appropriated, and the exercises will consist of reading essays, declamations, &c. The old way was well enough, and possessed its advantages, but maybe was becoming monotonous—and if a change is to take place, the one suggested will meet the public approval as well as any other at present. If those interested wish to see how the schools are progressing it would be well for them to make visits oftener than once a year.

There is said to be considerable fluttering ... day (Thursday), as several official gentlemen are handing out invitation cards to certain individuals, who are invited to a ... party at Canton. It is surmised that women are at the bottom of this movement; and we hope they are, and that as many of them have suffered long and severely from the demon of intemperance, they will persist in carrying the war into the grogshops. For it is there where most of their chief troubles originate. Men who have made solemn pledges to love and protect the women of their choice, have been enticed into the meshes of destruction by ... poisoners of human happiness, who then and there have spent their money, forfeited their honor, to a great extent, and suffered themselves to be led by evil counsels and perverted appetites. Nor will death spare them long if they do not mend their ways, as they have had ample proof and warning. Let the hands of all the good people of the city uphold these women in the work they have at last, in self defense, commenced, to save their and their children's and happiness from the ravager, who has been destroying their husbands, sons and brothers. If moral suasion, if exhortation, if all the warnings that men or women can utter will not avail, let the strong arm of the law be invoked, nor let its power be stayed till there is such a crushing of evil influences among us, as will never be forgotten, and will rebound to the glory and good fame of Massillon.

As far as we can learn there is a great unanimity among our people in favor of the town council removing its headquarters to the place provided for it by the city. True the present is a central location, but that is not necessary in carrying on the business of a city. The room now occupied will not be vacant, as it is too well suited to the wants of business men in many of the callings of life—we have no space for empty rooms in this vicinity. In legislating for the benefit of our citizens we hope our councilmen will not forget very long to put the people on a plan for numbering their houses and naming the streets. All that is needed is a plan—the people will do the rest.

The Coachmaker's Journal, Philadelphia, highly commends a nicely constructed carriage called the Canton Straightway. The picture of this neat, trim looking vehicle indicates that it is somewhat plain in its appearance, yet is light, strong, elegant and beautifully finished. Mr. Kemp is represented as the designer, but we presume the builders are the well known firm of Werts & King. The Journal is a model of elegence, and must be indispensible to carriage makers who would be posted up to the times. L. D. Ware, publisher.

We are under obligations for a copy of the annual report of the directors and warden of the Ohio penitentiary for 1872. It contains much useful, statistical information in connection with the state prison. The law of 1867 governing this institution appears, report of the board of directors, of whom Hon. Geo. Harsh of this place is a member, warden's report, detailed accounts, &c. There are 67 in for life—876 altogether, Oct. 31. Stark county 7 inmates at that date, one of whom is in on fourth conviction. In looking over the various tables one cannot avoid a feeling of sadness that so many are suffering the ignominy and disgrade of convicts.

The tens of thousands of young people who read the Schoolday Visitor can't but be pleased with the February number, as it abounds in reading matter of first class character. J. W, Daughaday & Co, publishers, Philadelphia.

I. H. Brown, Esq., our postmaster, showed us a paper the other day, printed in his native town in New Hampshire, which is now in its one hundred and seventeenth year, having been commenced in 1756, and continued in unbroken series to the present time. A complete file of the paper is preserved—we forget the name of the paper and city. Next 4th of July all the people who are natives of that place and now residing elsewhere, are invited to be there and participate in a reunion, which takes place once in twenty years. Mr Brown designs being there.

Thirty-three criminal cases are reported for action the present court at Canton, eleven of them liquor directly and indirectly. Forgery, burglary, shooting, manslaughter, &c., make up the rest. A long list of cases for civil action is also on the docket.

TRANSFERS.—C Young to H Rummins et al, 10 acres in Lawrence tp, $1,300; Fred Gise to Q W Reeves, half lot in Massillon, 300; C H Leobold to Amanda Leobold, lot in Perry tp, 2,900; M Klepfel to Anton Hertzer, one-fourth acre, Perry tp, 400; D. J. Havenstine to David Jackson, lot in Fulton, 260; Sam Billes to same half lot, 225.

That bungalow which used to stand on the streets across the canal has been dissolved, and the pieces are lying about loose. Of course somebody has charge of them.

From the way the court calendar reads this time it appears as if some of our people will have business at Canton the present term of court. Among the rest the widow Welschenbaugh is prosecuting somebody in connection with the troubles of her son Other women are in the same business, and we hope they will be rewarded with success —they have suffered long enough.

The exhibitions of the Navarre Amateur Dramatic Association, on Friday and Saturday evenings of last week, we are informed, proved completely successful The hall was densely crowded with spectators, and the performers acquitted themselves to the satisfaction of their patrons. Surely this must be encouraging to these young people, who thus are so successful in amusing their neighbors. Should like to have a fuller report from there; we have it.

That standard and now indispensable annual, the Tribune almanac, for 1873, has just been issued. In consequence of having to prepare an immense amount of statistics the publishers could not issue it at an earlier day—for it requires much time to collect and collate the election returns of the nation —and it is all there, officially. But this, important as it is, is only one item of contents Numerous other tables appear in its pages, beside a large mass of statistical and other useful information is there embodied, which will interest everybody. For sale at news depots—20 cts.

After a residence here for some years as one of the dry goods merchants, our old friend, James B Estep, Esq, has some idea of removing to Greeley, Colorado. Before doing so, however, he will make a visit to the place to see for himself and starts there this week Levi Hanna, an old acquaintance and native of New Lisbon, has been corresponding on the subject.

On Friday evening last Mr. John E. McLain of this place received a dispatch from Ligonier, Ind, from a nephew, Geo. McLain, that his father, George, was about dying. A later dispatch states that he died on that evening. From a letter received since we learn that Mr. Mc was attacked but a few days previously with lung fever and typhoid fever—either of them a serious enemy to encounter. Although George McLain was a large, robust man his constitution gave way to these fatal fevers, for perhaps few if any could overcome them.

AN EXCELLENT PEN.—We have been favored with a sample card of the celebrated Spencerian Steel Pens, and after trying them quite thoroughly are convinced of their superior merit. These pens are comprised in fifteen numbers, each differing in flexibility and fineness of point, so that the most fastidious penman cannot fail to find among the fifteen just such a pen as suits him. The Spencerian Pens are famous for their elasticity of movement, smoothness of point and great durability, and are a nearer approximation to the real Swan Quill Pen than any thing hitherto made. They are manufactured in England under the supervision of the original inventor of steel pens, the venerable Josiah Mason and Joseph Gillott —the latter making a few of the numbers after the models of the late P. R. Spencer, the famous penman. They are used very largely in the common schools of the United States, in all the principal commercial colleges, in the government offices at Washington, and in the banks and commercial offices throughout the country, the sale reaching an enormous quantity annually. For the conveniences of those who may wish to try them, a sample card of the Spencerian Pens may be had by mail by enclosing 25 cents to Messers. Ivison, Blakman, Taylor & Co., 138 and 140 Grand street, N. Y., or the pens may be bought at almost any store where pens are sold.

Some three or four weeks ago in publishing the names of the trustees of the Charity School, of this vicinity, that of our friend, C. F. Ricks, did not appear. We copied the item from a Canton paper, and in following copy made the mistake, which if not too late, we proceed to correct. Mr. R. has long held that relation to this well established educational institution.

The high waters which were disturbing some of our citizens last week have subsided, but the roaring Tuscarawas for several days felt big enough to carry little steamboats. It is many years since boats floated on its surface, starting here and some of them not stopping until they reached New Orleans. Some of our older citizens can tell of their experiences and adventures in conveying freights by water to many places south.

Renting season is at hand, and migratory people are looking up houses. Already many have made engagements for the coming year.

Several times last week the mails here were behind time in consequence of railroad difficulties. Thus far it has been a hard winter on railroads, and those passing along here have not been exempt from these troubles. In consequence of the thaw and high waters last week one of the bridges on the new road was moved, but the obstruction was soon remedied, and trains run regularly.

A new clothing store will be opened by our friend, Joseph Oppenheimer, now in the opera building, in the rooms now occupied by the Yost Bros, saddles and harness makers. Mr. O. is well and favorably known among our people and we hope will prove successful. The Koch & Co. firm will continue business at the old stand.

An appreciative but not large audience listened with much attention and interest to Mr. Ford's lecture in the Opera House, on last Thursday evening. Though our exchanges referred to him in highly flattering terms we found that their descriptions were all merited, for Mr. F is unusually successful at description; and he gave detailed accounts of some of the most celebrated places in Europe, in addition of traveling by sea. The lecture was well worthy the attention of the fullest hall we can gather here.

Birds of several varieties have commenced visiting us, and their merry songs were not uncommon during those pleasant days of last week. But their presence don't stop the north winds from howling about us, nor will it arrest the freezing cold nights and days yet in reserve for us.

Miss Hoverland, the milliner, having left the place, the new tin shop and stove establishment of Oehler & Geis has been moved there, and they are now ready to carry on business.

Public sales will take place as follows: George White of Jackson tp, offers horses, cattle, farming implements for sale, on Friday the 21st inst. Frederick Rohrer, of the same tp, will sell a large stock of horses, and cattle on the 25th inst. On the 19th inst. Philip Dahlheimer of Sugar Creek tp, Wayne Co., offers for sale a large variety of animals, farming implements and other articles.

Last week when the snow was melted and weather moderated considerably—though not enough to thaw the ground—it began to feel like sugar making time. But the back set of Saturday, Sunday and since dispelled that illusion. If, as used to be the theory, a cold winter is followed by a favorable season for making sugar, the coming spring ought to be a sweet one.

Perhaps some of the boys never quite playing at marbles, but generally they don't begin on the sidewalks till a thaw. Last week they were flipping ... and such on the sidewalks.

LADIES! DON'T GET IN A HURRY,

When about to purchase a Sewing Machine, but take time to give

THE WEED "FAMILY FAVORITE"

A thorough examination and trial, and you will be convinced of the following facts.

1. That it runs faster than any other Shuttle Machine.

2. That it is the simplest and most convenient machine to operate in the market.

3. That it is the easiest machine to oil and clean, every part being in plain sight.

4. It has no acting spring, every motion being positive.

5. It has a brake on balance wheel to prevent the machine from running backwards.

6. The new shuttle and upper tension, which have recently been added are the simplest and most perfect yet introduced.

These are a few of ... many reasons why the Family Favorite is fast becoming the leading machine in the market as is ... will eradiate, extirpate and thoroughly destroy all poisonous substances in the Blood and will effectually dispel all predisposition to bilious derangement.

Is there want of action in your liver and spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, felons, blotches, pustules, canker, &c

Have you a dyspeptic stomach? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, dropsical tendency, general weakness or lassitude.

Have you weakness of the Intestines. You are in danger of chronic diarrhœa or the dreadful inflammation of the bowels.

Have you weakness of the Urinary organs? You must ... or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Are you dejected, drowsy, dull, sluggish or depressed in spirits with headache, back ache, coated tongue and bad tasting mouth?

For a certain remedy for all of these diseases, weaknesses and troubles; for cleansing and purifying the vitiated blood and imparting vigor to all the vital forces; for building up and restoring the weakened constitution, use which is pronounced by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris "the most powerful tonic and alterative known to the medical world." This is no new and untried discovery but has been long used by the leading physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

Don't weaken and impair the digestive organs by cathartics and physics, they give only temporary relief—Indigestion, flatulency and dyspepsia with piles and kindred diseases are sure to follow their use.

Keep the blood pure and health is assured John Q. Kellogg, Platt st, N. Y. Sole agent for the United States. Price one dollar per bottle Send for circular

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA EUREKA VINEGAR BITTERS

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital Organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

MONARCHS OF ENGLAND.

Commit the following to memory, and you will have at your tongue's end the names of the monarchs of England from the time of the conquest down to the present date:

First, William, the Norman, then William, his son,
Henry, Stephen and Henry, then Richard and John,
Next, Henry the Third, Edwards, one, two and three;
And up in after Richard three Henrys we see,
Two Edwards third Richard, if rightly I guess,
Two Henrys, sixth Edward, queens Mary and Bess,
Then James, the first, then Charles, whom they slew,
Then followed Cromwell, another Charles, too;
Next, James, called the second, ascended the throne,
Then William and Mary together came on,
Till Anne, Georges four, and fourth William all past,
God sent them Victoria, the youngest and last
So you see that of rulers, kings, queens and cousins,
Old England has had her full three dozens.

A little girl was sent to the pasture to drive home the cow. While thus engaged she treated herself to climbing an unnecessary fence, from which she fell and was severely scratched and bruised. On returning home she was asked if she cried when she fell. "Why, no," she replied; "what would have been the use? There was nobody to hear me!"

MONT DE PILATE.

Every one who has visited Lucerne in Switzerland, must remember the rugged mountain, called "Mont de Pilate," or Pilate's mountain: which stands opposite to him, and if he has been shown by his guide the lake at its summit in which Pontius Pilate, in his despair, drowned himself, with an assurance that from this the mountain obtained its name. Nothing of the kind. "Mons Pileatus," the hatted hill; the clouds, as one so often sees, gathering round its summit and forming the shape and appearance of a turban or hat. When in the Middle Ages, this true derivation was forgotten or misunderstood, the other was invented or imposed. An instructive example this, let me observe, by the way of that which we cannot doubt has happened continually in far older legends.—I mean that the name has suggested the legend, and not the legend supplied the name.

THE DRUNKARD'S WILL.—Young man did you ever think as you throw down that dime for a glass of brandy—perhaps the last dime you have in the world—that you are surely hurrying yourself to perdition? If not, oh, stop and consider, 'ere it shall be too late. And so surely as you keep on in this way, at no distant day you will be compelled to make a will like unto the following:

I,——, beginning to be enfeebled in body, and fearing I may soon be palsied in mind, and having entered on that course of intemperance from which I have not the resolution to flee, do make and publish this my last will and testament:

Having been made in the image of my Creator, capable of rational enjoyment, of imparting happiness to others and of promoting the glory of God, I know my accountability. Yet such is my fondness of sensual gratification, and my utter indisposition to resist temptation, that I give myself entirely to intemperance and its associate vices, and make the following bequests: My property I need not give to be disposed of, knowing it will soon fall into the hands of those who furnish me with ardent spirits. My reputation, already tottering on a sandy foundation, I give to destruction: To my beloved wife, who has cheered me thus far through life, I give shame, poverty, sorrow and a broken heart. To each of my children I bequeath my example and the inheritance of their father's character. Finally, I give my body to disease, misery and early dissolution: and my soul, that can never die, to the disposal of that God, whose mercy I have abused, whose commands I have broken, and who has warned me by his word, that no drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of Heaven.

Drunkard, this will be your will, unless you shun the tempting bowl.

THE HUMAN EYE.

We presume that most of our readers have a general notion of the structure and working of the human eye. They know that the little sphere of an inch or so in diameter, which forms the eye ball, is a camera, essentially like the one used by the photographer to throw the image of external objects upon the surface prepared to receive it and placed within the apparatus. The mere forming of the picture inside the eye is not however seeing. The picture might as well be anywhere else, if there were not some means of making the mind aware of its existence. The optic nerve answers this purpose—a branch of the brain which enters the eye through a small hole in the rear, and spreads out in a delicate network over the surface whereupon the picture is formed. The impression made by the rays of light upon the net-work of nerves is telegraphed to the mind which then sees the object, or comes to recognize the existence of the object itself outside the eye.

If the optic nerve should be severed the picture in the eye might be as perfect as before, but we would nevertheless be blind to it. If any portion of the network of nerves just mentioned should be paralyzed, we would cease to see part of the picture formed on the portion of the eye's inner surface. If the entire image of some small objects should fall upon that insensible spot, we could no more see it, than if we had no eyes, or kept them shut. It is a curious fact that there is such a "blind spot" in every human eye: and, what is more curious, it is found to be just where the optic nerve enters the eye—the very place we might suppose would have the keenest sight of all.

A poor, but pious, young man apologized the other evening while making a call, for the muddiness of his boot saying he had not take a carriage, he walked up "with commendable economy." He was grieved when the love being whom he adores inquired. "Why didn't you ask Mr. Economy in?"

An Iowa City editor gives rather a discouraging account of commercial monetary matters among the farmers in that region. From its Price Current we quote as follows: A pair of winter boots costs two loads of potatoes: a night's lodging, a load of oats: the wife wears five acres of wheat; the children each ten acres of corn: the price of an overcoat is a good four-year-old stear: of a Sunday suit twenty fat hogs. The farm, too, wears a mortgage that is worse than hard-pan to the soil, and the annual tax rots the roof faster than rain.

Dr. Willet, lecturing in Boston the other night, told a droll story of himself. He said that at one time, when he was a connoisseur in bird stuffing, he used to criticise other people's bird stuffing severely. Walking with a gentleman one day, he stopped where a gigantic owl was exhibited. "You see," said the doctor to his friend, "that is a magnificent bird utterly ruined by unskillful stuffing. Notice the mounting! Execrable, isn't it? No living owl ever roosted in that position, And the eyes are fully a third larger than any owl ever possessed." At this moment the stuffed bird raised one foot and solemnly blinked at his critic, who said very little more about stuffed birds that afternoon.

A reporter of a new Troy, N. Y., paper has been inquiring into the motives which actuated the maker of the Cardiff giant. This man, whose name is Sela, is at present employed in stone-cutting at Troy, and seems to be an eminently practical sort of a man. He says he had nothing to do with the Cardiff humbug further than to make the model and cut the stone, for which he received his pay. For the model that he first made he received $500. He asserts that if a man should come to him and ask him to carve a devil, he would carve the biggest devil in Hades, and if another should ask him to carve an angel, he would chisel the most beautiful angel that kneels at the throne of God (if he could), and both at the same bench and with the same tools, providing he was paid for it.

Switzerland intrusts the election of its president to the national council and council of state, which correspond essentially to our national senate and house of representatives and together form the federal assembly. The president's term of office is one year. The successful candidate for the ensuing year is Paul Ceresole, son of the reformed pastor of Friedrichsdorf, near Frankfort. He is little over forty years of age, having been born on the 7th of November, 1832. He studied law, and began the practice of his profession at Vevay in 1848. He was elected to the council, and at once took a prominent position. He was afterward chosen minister of war. An independent Liberal in politics, an eloquent orator, an indefatigable worker, and a clear thinker, he is generally regarded as one of the ablest officers ever called to administer the affairs of the confederation. As the revision of the constitution is likely to be undertaken during the next year, his accession at this time is deemed particularly fortunate.

'Whittlesey,' for for sour eructation of stomach.

Buffalo, N. Y. Dec 13, 1870.

Dr. R. V. Pierce:—For the past six months I have used your Golden Medical Discovery in my practice and in that time I have tested its merits in severe coughs, both acute and chronic, in chronic diseases of the throat, severe cases of bronchitis, general derangement of the system, constipated condition of the bowels, and wherever a thorough alterative, or blood purifier, has been indicated. In all cases I have found it to act gently yet thoroughly and effectually in removing the various diseased conditions, and bringing about a healthy action throughout the system. Yours fraternally, H. L. HALL, M. D.

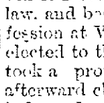

'Whittlesey,' for tightness of the chest.

Consumptives, Delay no More.—Do you wish to wait until that fatal disease which has brought death and disorder into families and filled many hearts with sorrow, has completely seated itself, before you do anything for it? If not, go at once and buy a half a dozen bottles of Dr Keyser's Lung Cure, take them, and stop the disease. It will do it without fail. If you can do so, go and consult a Doctor at his office, and have him examine your lungs. He is a thoroughly educated physician, of vast experience, and has proved by his cures that what he does not know in the treatment of chronic diseases of any kind, is hardly worth knowing. Dr Keyser's office, 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa. An essay sent free to all who order it. Price of Lung Cure, $1.50, or for $7.50 per half dozen.

MANHOOD,

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr Culverwell's celebrated essay on the radical cure without medicine of spermatorrhœa, or seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency, physical and mental incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc; also consumption, epilepsy and fits, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, 6 cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife, pointing out a mode of cure at once simple certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents or two post stamps.

Also, Dr Culverwell's Marriage Guide. Price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

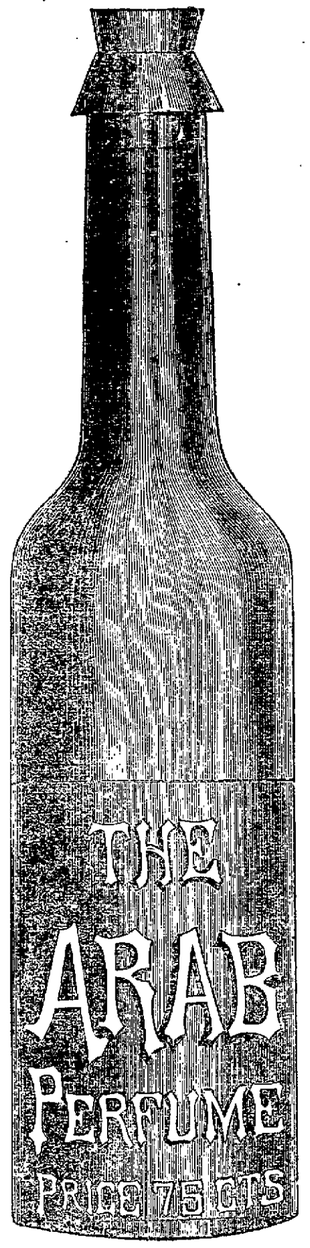

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities or diseases that have lurked in the system for years soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Medicine in Parvo Physic.

The marvels of modern Medical, Chemical and Pharmaceutical science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet presents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in the drug shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in proportion to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect, but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gentle and kindly operating cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any Calomel or other forms of mercury or any other mineral poison.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High Colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair them; their sugar-coating and being enclosed in glass bottles preserve them in all climates unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable which is not the case with the pills found in the drug stores, put up in cheap wood or paste-board boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative or Purgative is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all enterprising Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

Do not allow any druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good as my Pellets because he makes a larger profit on that which he recommends. If your druggist cannot supply them, enclose 25 cents and receive them by return mail from

CELEBRATED
Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream, twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure; for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "CURE" expels the miasmatic poison of Fever and Ague from the system, and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral; consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

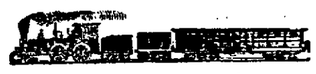

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure; and few will ever suffer from Intermittents if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity, and producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines fail.

Wishart's Pine Tree

TAR CORDIAL.

Nature's Great Remedy

FOR THE

Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr L Q C Wishart's Pine Tree tar Cordial, for throat and lung diseases, has gained an enviable fame from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons through all the states actually benefitted and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation

Second. It removes the cause of irritation which produces cough) of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions and purifies the blood

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which only relieve the cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a position which it holds above all others in market.

NOTICE.

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,

Great American Dyspepsia Pills,

And Worm Suga Drops

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of the cheap and impure articles.

DR. WHITTIER

296 Penn St. Pittsburg, Pa.

A REGULAR GRADUATE OF MEDICINE, AS DIPLOMAS AT OFFICE WILL SHOW, has been longer engaged in the treatment of Venereal, Sexual and Urinary Diseases than any other physician in Pittsburg.

Syphilis, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia or Rupture; all Urinary Diseases and Syphilitic or Mercurial Affections of the Throat, Skin, or Bones are treated with unparalleled success.

Spermatorrhœa, Sexual Debility and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth, sexual excesses in maturer years, or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as nocturnal emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, evil forebodings, aversion to society of females, loss of memory and sexual power rendering marriage improper, are permanently cured. Sealed pamphlet relating to above sent for two stamps. Call or write, a friendly talk costs nothing. Medicine sent everywhere. It is self evident that a physician who treats thousands of cases every year acquires skill. Country physicians knowing this frequently send patients to my care.

MANHOOD! WOMANHOOD!

Who may Marry, who not, why. Send 6 stamps. Full symptoms Chronic Diseases, 100 pages. Sent privately. Address Dr. WHITTIER, 296 Penn Street, Pittsburg, Pa. Ills more than ever. Confidence confirmed.
